

Homecoming---Oct. 18, 19, 20

Queen to Be Crowned At First Night Skit

This coming week-end's Homecoming will climax many hours of work for many NWMSC students. Some of these plans originated last spring.

Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. the first round of activities will begin. This will be the first presentation of the variety show. This year the number of skits will be larger than in previous years.

After the variety show, the queen will be crowned. Following the crowning of the queen Thursday night a pep rally will be held in the auditorium.

There will be 10 skits presented at the variety show. In between the skits, there will be six individual acts presented by various groups and individuals. Emceeding this year's variety show will be Sig Tau's John Kelly and Dave Tandy.

The show Thursday is presented especially for the students. The show on Friday, held at 8:00, is presented for the people of the town, alumni, and others interested.

Floats from certain organizations, bands from Northwest Missouri and Southwest Iowa, jalopies, and clowns will compose the 1692 Homecoming parade starting at 10:00 Saturday morning.

At the half-time of the game Saturday afternoon, awards and trophies will be presented to the superior Iowa and Missouri marching bands. The queen and her attendants will again make their appearance

33 Bands to March In Parade and Half

Approximately 33 high school bands from surrounding areas will participate in Maryville's Homecoming to be held October 20.

They will march in the parade Saturday morning and take part in the half-time show at the afternoon game.

According to Mr. Ward Rounds, director of the college band, the entire group of bands will form the word MUSIC across the football field.

UT New to Four Freshmen

As far as the young people of this country are concerned, "the Twist" is definitely on the way out. But it may be quite some time yet before the older generation realizes this fact and accepts another gyration.

Ross Barbour, spokesman for the Four Freshmen, expressed this idea on the diminishing fad, in an interview prior to their engagement in Lamkin Gymnasium. Just as captivating off-stage as on, Bob Flanagan showed a genuine interest in Maryville's contribution to the dancing crazes: "the UT." Totally unacquainted with this new step, the funny man of the quartet thought perhaps this could be the replacement for the "Monster Mash." But he declined to foretell what type of music or dance would be the next to capture America.

Speaking with authority, the m. c. for the group set forth the idea that the college students across the nation have more in common with one another than say, the townspeople.

POLICY

The Missourian has received a "letter to the editor" which was not signed. It is the paper's policy not to print any unidentified letters; the names may be withheld if so stated.

If the authors of the letter would come in to the office some time or get the names to us in some way, we would be most happy to publish it.

Claude Thornhill to Play For Homecoming Dance

The Homecoming Dance will feature the music of Claude Thornhill and his orchestra. He has been picked by all music critics as one of the all time favorites.

Thornhill is a triple threat man and the lovely theme song of the Thornhill orchestra introduces all three of the maestro's talents simultaneously.

He is the composer and the arranger of the beautiful "Snowfall" which also features himself on the piano. The other richly colored band arrangements are all written by the maestro. Thornhill has a big advantage over most of the current band leaders in being able to combine a classical background with the current trend of popular music. His training at both the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and the Curtis Institute of Music are the prime factors in making the band what it is today.

Thornhill had been the arranger for such great people

Committees End Work

Lois Woolsoncroft and Dale Hunsinger co-chairmen of the homecoming committee are getting the "ball rolling" this year.

The committees are composed of the following: Publicity: Ivan Lydoo*, Janice Leavell*, Betty Jo McDoniel and Rosanne Lyle; Signs and posters: Mary Ellen Disburg and Tom Fairlie; Urogram Co-ordinator: Connie Ewing; Variety show: Joyce Owens*, Marilyn Koger*, Arlene Ecklin, Joyce Iwen and John R. Kelley; Queen contest and float: David Wyckoff and Jerilyn Irvin; Dance: Larry Kelmer* and Dick Hicks*; Decorations: Norma Hunsicker*, Gary Hanson*, Carolee Smith, Edwina Starks, Jim O'Riley, Shirley Scott, Janet Tussey, Bobbie Wright, Ted Marr and Robert Barter; Parade: Raymond Christi* and Gerald Hiley*; Judge's stand: Jerry Schultz*, Debbie Price, Don Weigal and Larry Holland; Tickets: Pat Rucker*, Larry Trede and Sue Miller; Campus decorations: Green* Ellen Grube, John Meadows, Carolyn Wiltshire, Jim Goen, and Dean Hamon; Judges and ballots: Paul Sorenson*, June Lee Nelson*, Judy Hullman, Si Zentner and his orchestra will appear on campus October 24 at 4 p.m. in the college auditorium, sponsored by Sigma Tau Gamma.

The 17 piece name band has had many hit songs including the number one hit parade song, "Up 'The Lazy River." He recently made an appearance on television on the Ford Spectacular program.

Si Zentner, long regarded as one of the country's leading trombonists, entered the limelight as the leader of a big band with his first Liberty Album, "A Thinking Man's Band." The success of this album and the following one, "Suddenly It's Swing," has established the Si Zentner Orchestra as a top band dedicated to good swinging music, well played.

A graduate of such great swinging aggregations as Les Brown, Harry James, and the Jimmy Dorsey Bands, Si Zentner eventually settled in Los Angeles. There his activities were primarily as a trombonist in motion pictures and literally thousands of recordings, until the recent formation of his own band.

Tickets may be purchased at the concert or from any member of Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity.

A drawing of ticket stubs will be held with the winners receiving a top record album.

Slides of Queens, Floats on Display

The slides of earlier Homecoming floats and queens will be presented by R. T. Wright, chairman, Ag department.

The slides will be shown in Room 126, Administration building (Ag Museum) and will be on display at various times of the day, as well as after the skits and movies.

as Benny Goodman and Bing Crosby. He formed his own band in January, 1940 and debuted at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York.

He followed his successful inauguration into the ranks of band leaders by playing many of the leading hotels and theatres around the country.

The queen and her attendants will be presented at the intermission of the dance. The winners in the parade will also be announced at this time.

College Upholds Free Speech

The Discipline Committee of the University of Colorado dismissed a student's attack on Senator Barry Goldwater Oct. 4 as an expression of free and open discussion. The committee voted unanimously to dispense with charges brought against the student author, the Associated Press reports.

Of his strongly worded article in a magazine supplement to The Colorado Daily, the student newspaper, assailing the conservative Republican senator from Arizona, the Disciplinary Committee said the choice of language could not be considered a personal attack on any individual.

"The Committee firmly upholds the right of students to engage in free and open discussion," the group said.

The article led to a sharp dispute between Senator Goldwater and the University President, Quigg Newton. The president and the student editor of The Colorado Daily had written apologies to Senator Goldwater. In return, the senator cast aspersions on President Newton, who returned the fire.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

The Four Freshmen were certainly a giant step in acquiring the type of entertainment which the majority of students on this campus, or any campus, appreciate.

Whoever was responsible for their engagement should be thanked and congratulated for the wise choice.

True, most college students lean more or less toward the pops field as regarding music tastes and shy away from anything which smacks of the classics, antiquity and the "three Bs." And so, the audience last Tuesday evening was willing to forget the ever present homework for one evening to hear something which appealed to College Joe.

Unless I was completely fooled, the Four Freshmen seemed to be genuinely concerned with the ranks of college students of this generation. We are their public rather than high school students or the adults in our hometowns.

Granted, at the college level musical tastes are supposed to be steadily rising instead of continuing on the same plane of appreciation. But, dosages of the things we know and like are certainly to be applauded. Again, I say, Thanks and "thumbs up" to the Union Board. —LJS

Mississippi, 1962

Seen from the position of the northern liberal, the moderate, or the ultra-conservative Southerner, Oxford, Mississippi, is a dateline which spells trouble—now and in the future. Already two people have been killed, the educational life of the university has been disrupted, and hatred and prejudice have become the guidelines for action.

The defiance of federal court orders to integrate the University of Mississippi by the governor and the consequent use of federal troops to enforce that court order, have precipitated probably the worst federal-state controversy since 1861. Approximately 15,000 federal or federalized state troops had to be ordered into the Oxford area to quell the rioting and prevent further violence. The town itself was turned into an occupied area with uniformed soldiers stationed on street corners. Both Governor Ross Barnett and Lieutenant Governor Paul Johnson were threatened with contempt of court proceedings for their open defiance of the courts and of the federal marshals sent to enforce the will of the courts. President Kennedy even made a nation-wide television appearance to explain the government's actions and to ask, in vain, for the people of Mississippi to peacefully accept the court's decision.

The implications and consequences of this breach of law and order are far-reaching and tremendously significant. In the South, particularly in Alabama and South Carolina which do not even have token desegregation, politicians may follow Barnett's lead in order to gain state-wide support as Barnett has done. The Old Southern feelings of defiance and state sovereignty have not yet died. They will be used again and again by rabble-rousing politicians to incite the people to subvert the law. Far from proving the futility of such action, Gov. Barnett has shown that by defying the federal government, one can become a state hero and gain much political power. The question remains: will other southern officials follow his example?

The nation as a whole has viewed the Ole Miss crisis with horror. Throughout the country, newspapers have decried the bloody resistance of the Mississippians. The President's policy of exhausting all legal methods to force the integration and then quietly amassing the overwhelming task force to subdue the rebellion before it could gain momentum, has met with approval in all but the most ultra-conservative of the press.

Internationally, particularly in Africa and Europe, the United States' claims of equality and freedom have once more been taken to task. The damage done to American good will and influence cannot be over-estimated. The good accomplished by billions of dollars of foreign aid has been wiped away by the unthinking actions of the people in Mississippi and the outside agitators.

Mississippi and her governor are without any doubt, in the wrong. They have openly flaunted the courts and the law. To say, however, they are the only ones who are in error is to gloss over some of the main trouble spots. The Justice Department has, at times, ignored the history of the South. The Negro is entitled to the same education as any other people, but the rapid, bayonet enforced method used by the President's brother sometimes causes more resentment and trouble than would a more gradual program. It is impossible to change the whole character and prejudice of the South overnight.

The South is wrong in trying to maintain segregation, but the federal government is equally at fault when it tries to force the integration program down the throats of southern people at too fast a pace. So-called liberals complain loudly about the violence and social unrest in the South but they "complete and immediate integration" attitude has done significant damage to the progress of social equality.

Moderation must become the key to "Operation Integration." Moderation, both by the federal government and by the southerners. If the Negro is ever to be accepted as a full fledged citizen, his rise to equality must not be worked by such incidents as happened at Oxford, Mississippi. —BJ

Inquiring Photographer

The topic chosen for discussion for this week is this: Do you think Walk-Out Day should be continued and what activities could be added to make it a more enjoyable day for the students? All of the students interviewed definitely thought Walk-Out Day should be continued.

Jim Hurley, St. Joseph, Mo., junior

"The Silvertones were one of the most enjoyable bands that I have ever seen on this campus."

Linda Jones, Kansas City, Mo., senior

"It could be a greater success if more activities were planned which would involve all the students. Perhaps freshmen hazing could be reinstated."

Norma Hunsicker, Eagleville, Mo., junior

"There seemed to be not enough organization. The senate should gather more talent for the variety show."

Marvin Fine, Hopkins, Mo., senior

"The variety show could be improved a lot. I would also like to see freshmen hazing brought back again."

Judy Strigers, Jameson, Mo., freshman

"There should be more planned activities for the students." Judy did think that the band that played for the dance was "just great."

The Stroller

'Twas a soggy Friday even when the Stroller wandered to the swampy grounds to partake of an evening of pigskin frolics. 'Twill be a fine evening, the wise one thought, watching a football game and participating in the spirit of college athletics.

The problem of clumsiness has understandably limited the sage to a life commonly known as spectatoritis. After she had planted her plentiful posterior on yon bleacher, he settled back to watch a good game and enjoy the spirit of the fans.

Whether or not it was a good game is a matter of opinion and the decision shall be reserved for the sports-minded. As for the school spirit bit, anyone with a mind at all could readily observe that school spirit was at low ebb. This the omniscient one deduced, if one can deduce that the Stroller has a mind???

It would be a weird person indeed that would not agree that we need a boost in school spirit. How can this be accomplished?

All students know we need it, but few are willing to do anything. Granted, our team is not as good as it has been in the past, but what can one expect? If the fans show no interest, how can one expect the team to be fired up? The answer is obvious and action is definitely needed.

Let's all go to Homecoming ready and willing to cheer the "Big Green" on to victory. The Stroller will be there—Cheering.

May We Present--

The Rose Bowl Parade's six miles might sound like a lot of marching, but they are only a small part of the many marching miles Mr. C. Ward Rounds, music instructor at NWMSC, has covered since he appeared in that parade with the University of Nebraska Band.

After receiving his BS in music at the University of Nebraska, Mr. Rounds attended Columbia University, New York City from which he got his MA in music. In addition, Mr. Rounds has a minor in percussion with each of his degrees. Also he has done graduate study at Columbia University, UCLA, and at Eastman School of Music at Rochester, New York where he attended a brass workshop.

Mr. Rounds has taught music in several high schools; and, while at McCook, Nebraska, had the honor of directing the school band at a gubernatorial inauguration when the superintendent of schools at McCook was elected governor of the state. The Governor made Mr. Rounds' band the official band to play at state functions.

Besides being a classroom teacher, Mr. Rounds also directs Marching Band and Concert Band. The Brass Quintet, the Brass Choir, a trumpet trio, a trumpet quartet, and a trombone quartet are several groups Mr. Rounds directs. These small groups have a two-fold purpose: first, to train the students and second, to provide music and entertainment for programs and activities on campus and in area schools.

Mr. Round's chief hobby is his record collection; he especially enjoys listening to Mr. Rounds' chief hobby is his record collection; he especially enjoys listening to jazz for relaxation.

If you would like to see the maestro in action, may we suggest that you attend Mr. Rounds' trumpet recital which will be held Mar. 25 in the Horace Mann Auditorium.

MSTA Reports Staff Placement

Over 350 NWMSC graduates have been placed in teaching and industrial position. According to the Field Service Office, this is the biggest year for placements. It seems that there are still jobs but no more graduates.

In the administration field of education, Missouri claimed fourteen of NWMSC personnel, while Iowa claimed two, and Nebraska, Wisconsin, California claimed one each. The approximate average salary was $7,000.

American Association of University Professors will meet in the Lakeview Dining Room of the Union building Thursday, October 25, at 5 p.m.

A panel discussion headed by Mr. Dale Midland, English department, will cover the present retirement system for the benefit of new members. Guest speakers Dr. Elwyn DeVore, business, Dr. John Harr, social science, and Miss Olive De Luce, retired, will discuss the benefits under the present retirement system.

Illustrations will be given hypothetical cases of the amount of money that faculty members may expect to receive upon retirement under present retirement plans.

Complete Drama Preparation

Over $200 worth of material will be used in making costumes in "Androcles and The Lion." Mrs. Palmer has nearly completed the foot high stack of costume patterns.

Along with other outside preparations, armor is being made and character masks, so common to Greek style plays, are being formed to symbolize the slaves.

To facilitate scene change, a turn table will be set up on stage. The table which will be complete with steps for departure or entrance allows the actors to remain on stage as the scene is revolved to another set.

The scene blacking was completed last week, and the prologue and first act have already been committed to memory. Play rehearsals are held every night from 7 to 10, with the extras practicing only on Monday and Wednesday.

Mr. Midland and Miss Dorothy Walker are jointly in charge of this meeting.

Iowa Champions to Twirl for NWMSC

A band majorette since the fourth grade, drum major her junior and senior years in high school, winner of a I rating at tri-state contests for 4 years, recipient of a superior rating at the Iowa State Fair are all credits of Miss Karenann Falk, a majorette for the NWMSC Band.

A sophomore from Shenandoah, Iowa, Karenann has a major in physical education and a minor in home economics. She enjoys participating in several sports, especially basketball and softball.

Miss Patricia Swency, our other NWMSC Band majorette has three years of experience as a high school majorette as well as three years of appearances at Iowa State contests. In addition she has appeared in programs in her home town.

A freshman from Shenandoah, Iowa, Pat is majoring in business. In her spare time she likes to cook and sew and has been a 4-H member for 10 years.

A special feature Karenann and Pat will present at the Homecoming game will be a number which uses fire batons. Karenann explained that only fundamental executions are possible with these batons as the performer can be burned quite easily.

In addition to their own performance, Karenann and Pat will have the additional responsibility of being in charge of the high school majorettes who always appear in mass at Homecoming half-time. They will have to train the girls for their numbers and will also lead the group.

Alcoholism Hit By Cape Grad, Now Physician

Speaking recently in St. Louis, a Cape graduate (1913) who is now a Chicago physician and scientist, called alcoholism a disease, but a self-inflicted one.

The speaker, Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, was awarded as a distinguished alumnus of the college at a commencement here several years ago.

He is now professor of physiology and head of the Department of Clinical Science at the University of Illinois College of Medicine.

In St. Louis he gave three talks at the fourth annual Alcohol Education Institute last month.

ALTHOUGH ALCOHOLISM is a disease suffered by the excessive drinker, Dr. Ivy said, the moderate drinker also encourages the disease.

It is the social and moderate drinker—not the drunk—who is to blame for the failure of his less enlightened, weaker brother to maintain control of his drinking, Dr. Ivy said.

"THOSE WHO THINK they can control their drinking should ask themselves: Is the pleasure which my controlled drinking affords me worth the production of the 7,000,000 million-heavy and addictive drinkers, the many traffic deaths and injuries due to drinking drivers, and all the other human misery consequent to alcoholic beverages?"

Parents, Dr. Ivy said, should inquire: Has drinking alcohol contributed so much to my happiness that I want my child, and all children, to take the chance of being alcoholics, drunken drivers, and victims of divorce because of alcohol? Dr. Ivy listed five "specious arguments presented to the untrained mind":

ONE: You hear some people ask: Would it be wise to try to eliminate traffic injuries by abolishing all motor vehicles? The fallacy is that the question assumes that alcoholic drinks are as necessary as motor vehicles.

TWO: This one was used by Life Magazine: "Alcohol is no more responsible for man's misuse of it than food is responsible for his gluttony."

This is, of course, misleading. Relatively small amounts of alcohol intoxicate and make a consumer a potential murderer when he drives a car; food does not. Alcohol produces addiction; food does not.

Food does not increase crime, poverty, divorce and accidents; alcohol does. Without food, there would be no gluttony, but we would all die; without alcohol, there would be no hangover, but many lives would be saved and much human misery prevented.

THREE: This argument also was used in Life: The claim that alcohol is an indispensable "medicine" for certain heart and vascular conditions.

The fact is that alcohol is not indispensable. It is only one drug among others which accomplish the same actions. The fact is that an exceedingly small amount of alcohol is used for medicinal purposes in the United States, yet its medicinal action is used as propaganda to support the non-medicinal use.

FOUR: "Civilization created alcohol as a weapon against fear, and it helps man enjoy the present." This is an epicurean philosophy which substitutes alcohol for the contributions of religion, science, music, art, rest and recreation.

tion. Alcohol destroys wholesome recreation education and region build.

FIVE: "The use of alcohol is a folkway; it is futile to try to change a folkway." Sliver too, was once a folkway. Abraham Lincoln said: "The use of alcoholic beverages has many defenders but no defense."

Earlier, Dr. Ivy discussed research which indicates the lack of a co-enzyme may play an important part in the alcoholic's "latent craving" for alcohol.

He said DPN has been found to be present in amount less than normal in the bodies of heavy drinkers treated by Dr. Paul O'Hollaren, a Seattle physician.

Dr. O'Hollaren has reported that the "withdrawal symptoms" such as the shakes and irritability of the brain, can be lessened in such person with the administration of DPN into the blood.

'Cats Fail to Stop Bears

Springfield State College used an almost air tight defense and a crushing offense in overwhelming Northwest State College 33-0 Saturday night at Springfield in the opening MIAA Conference game for both teams.

It was the third win against one loss and one tie for the Bears; while MSC is now 0-5 for the season, having lost its last 10 games. The Bearcats have been shutout three times this season.

The Bear defense limited MSC to only one yard rushing. Springfield racked up 348 yards on the ground.

There was a slight Green and White edge by the air waves with MSC hitting four of seven for 58 yards. Springfield hit four of nine for 49 yards.

Pressure was on the Bearcats the entire game as Springfield scored in every quarter.

MSC was forced to punt seven times, lost four fumbles and had one pass intercepted.

The Bearcats host Warrensburg Saturday afternoon in their homecoming game at Memorial Stadium.

Warrensburg was a 7-42 victim of defending champion Kirksville Saturday night at Warrensburg. The Kirks' nifty freshman halfback, Mike Richardson, scored the first three touchdowns.

Rolla scored late, but could not overcome the early Cape Girardeau passing attack and lost 12-23 on the Indians' field. Cape used two passes, a field goal and a short run for its counters.

Chalk Talk . . . Bob Cobb

Looking ahead on the Bearcat sports calendar, we find that basketball is just around the corner.

Round ball mentor, Marion Moss blew the initial whistle for pre-season work-outs October 15.

Moss informs us that there will be wide-open competition for team berths and extends an invitation to all those interested in trying out for varsity basketball to contact him immediately.

Cards Ranked Spoilers

The World Series has come and gone with its annual pageantry, but we can't let baseball go into its winter slumber without lauding our favorites, the St. Louis Cardinals, once more.

When the National League smoke had cleared, the Red Birds, led by the clutch pitching of Curt Simmons and the timely hitting of Gene Oliver had knocked the L. A. Dodgers right out of the pennant race, thus giving the Giants a chance for a three-game play-off series which they eventually won.

Although they finished a lowly sixth in the standings, the Cardinals led their league in team pitching and hitting while winning 84 games. We shudder to think where they would have landed without the heroics of a 41-year-old gaffer named Musial.

The Card front-office predicts a big turnover in player personnel. Here's one tide we would like to see: Ernie Broglio and Charley James for Dick Howser and Manny Jimenez.

'Cats Display New Look

Coach Earl Baker's briders will probably take the wraps off their new winged-T offense in front of the home folks against Warrensburg on Homecoming.

The Winged-T features more passing and line plunges contrary to the traditional Single-Wing and its around-end rushing style offense.

Tiger Go Canine

Tom Siler in a recent issue of Sporting News says, "Missouri University has a dog-gone bad situation trying to keep the goal posts intact after games. School officials think they've solved the problem. The Columbia police department and the Cooper County Sheriff's office will furnish pooches to keep OVER-ZEALOUS FANS from tearing down the bars every time the Tigers win—or lose." WE should be so LUCKY!

Bearcats Oppose Mules

The Northwest Missouri State College Bearcats will be striving to knock off Warrensburg in the annual Homecoming Day game Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m.

Spirit is high among players and students for the tilt to be preceded by the Homecoming Day Parade. The 'Cats are hoping to add another victory to their record of 10-4-1 dating back to 1947.

Coach Earl Baker and his squad have been working hard in preparation for the key game. They have been experimenting with a new wing-T offense, and it is hoped to be ironed out and ready for the game.

Warrensburg, MIAA Conference member, has been slow starting this season, but they are expected to be running in high gear for the game in an effort to spoil the Bearcats' homecoming. They run from a multiple-type T formation and are always dangerous.

The probable starters for Maryville are:

LE—Roger Voss
RE—Ed Whitaker
LT—John Massengale
RT—Larry Holland
LG—Tom Baker
RG—Larry Timmerman
C—Duane Abbott
QB—Earl Boyd

Bearcat Bs Rip Card Reserve, 13-0

The NWMSC Bearcat B-team put on a defensive show and slammed William Jewell, 13-0, Oct. 8, at Liberty, home of the Cardinals. The win evened Maryville's B-team record to 1-1.

Under the direction of Coaches Burton Richey, Marion Moss, and Dean Jack Lasley, the 'Cats ran from the T-formation for about half of the contest, along with their usual single-wing attack. Stander and Mace led the offensive unit with one touchdown each.

The squad has two more scheduled games.

seventeen stops on their present tour and had just played Mitchell, South Dakota, before their one night stand in Maryville. Worn out and exhausted, they stopped before an eager audience of an estimated 2,000. But with "In this Whole World" and a thunderous ovation the unpredictable Four Freshmen held the students of this college in the palms of their hands.

27 Intramural Teams Fill Five Leagues

Intramural football games through the first round have been complete during the past week. The program, under the direction of Dr. H. D. Peterson and Larry Hagan, student intramural director, has 27 teams in five different leagues.

The Sig Taus lead with eight teams, while Phi Sigs, Phi Lambs, and Independents each have five squads. TKE has four clubs entered in the competition.

Close Race

All five leagues have had close battles for top honors. Battling right down to the final games for the various league titles are the following teams: Eastern League, Zombes (PS); Western League, Downers (PS) and Jaws (ST); American League, Bears (PS) and Flashes (ST), and the National League, Messes (ST) and Rabbits (ST). In the Big Six League, the powerhouse conference, the Hawks (PS) and the Sins (ST) are staging a battle for their crown.

Second Round

Hagan stated that the intramural council is still discussing the prospects of having a second round of play. He said that there probably would be another round, depending upon weather conditions.

The officiating has been handled by male PE majors, with three men running each contest. Rules and penalties are basically the same as in tackle football, with minor changes due to the nature of the sport.

PSE and ASA Win Scholarship Cups

The first All Greek Assembly was held Oct. 11, Thursday in the Auditorium. Dean Koerble and President Jones addressed the group on the merit of constant re-evaluation.

The two scholarship cups were awarded with the Lon Wilson Memorial Cup going to Phi Sigma Epsilon. The women's cup was won by Alpha Sigma Alpha. According to Pan-Hellenic rules, the Alpha's will now keep the cup since they won it three consecutive years.
